

MARTIN MTHEMBU
16 August 1968 – 2 August 2014

It is with profound sadness that the Southern African Wildlife College advises of the death of one of its staff members, Mr Martin Mthembu who died in a car accident on Saturday 2 August. Martin was a long-standing partner in African Field Ranger Services, now a division of the College, and has trained field rangers from across the continent.

His legacy extends way beyond South Africa and its borders. The condolences that have been coming in from far and wide are testimony to the man that Martin was. He was an icon in the field ranger training arena and led his students by example. Known for his integrity, honour and deep sense of responsibility to conservation, his work, his family and his friends, Martin will be sorely missed by everyone he came into contact with.

Our condolences are extended to his wife Simangele and his children as well as to Ruben and Marianne de Kock with whom he worked closely for over 20 years.

Rest in peace Martin, we will miss you and treasure the wonderful memories we shared.
